Our Seminar Speaker

Ben Blalock

Mr. Blalock is a United States Army veteran and former interrogation and counter-intelligence soldier, Special Agent, government employee and contractor in the intelligence field. He has extensive experience and specialized training in polygraph, interviewing, interrogation, and vulnerability assessment. Mr. Blalock holds both Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degrees, and has extensive investigative and foreign language training. He has conducted quality control of countless polygraph examinations, interviews, interrogations and investigations for the federal government, private and law enforcement agencies from six continents. He is a Post-Conviction Sex Offender Testing (PCSOT) Instructor, and has administered numerous PCSOT polygraph examinations. Mr. Blalock has authored and co-authored several polygraph- related articles, and has traveled throughout the world as a much sought-after presenter on various polygraph topics. Not only is he a graduate of the world-renowned National Center for Credibility Assessment (NCAA), but has been a Director of three accredited polygraph schools, including being the current Director of Peak Credibility Assessment Training Center.

Mr. Blalock has been honored with Lifetime Memberships in numerous polygraph associations and societies for his contributions to the field of polygraph. He has also served in over a dozen positions in various boards, committees, and subcommittees directly related to polygraph, including current appointments with the Florida Polygraph Association Board, the American Polygraph Association School Accreditation Committee, and the American Polygraph Association Membership Committee.
